ANNULLED CONVICTIONS BILL 2003

(Brought in by the Minister for Justice and Industrial Relations, the Honourable Judith Louise Jackson)

A BILL FOR

An Act to facilitate the rehabilitation of offenders by providing that in certain circumstances minor convictions are annulled for nearly all purposes, to impose restrictions on obtaining and disclosing information about annulled convictions and to make similar provision for quashed convictions and pardons and for related purposes

Be it enacted by His Excellency the Governor of Tasmania, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly, in Parliament assembled, as follows:

PART 1 - PRELIMINARY

Short title

1. This Act may be cited as the Annulled Convictions Act 2003.

Commencement

2. This Act commences on a day to be proclaimed.
Interpretation

3. (1) In this Act, unless the contrary intention appears -

“adult” means a person who has attained the age of 18 years;

“annulled” means -

(a) annulled under section 6 or 8; or

(b) quashed or set aside by a court; or

(c) made the subject of a free or conditional pardon;

“annulled conviction” means a conviction that has been annulled;

“conviction” means a conviction recorded against a person for an offence, whether on indictment or summarily or as a result of the acceptance of an infringement notice, and whether before or after the commencement of this Act;

“imprisonment” includes detention pursuant to a detention order made under the Youth Justice Act 1997;

“Justice Agency” means any of the following:

(a) the Australian Federal Police;

(b) the police force or service of a State;

(c) the Australian Crime Commission established by section 7 of the Australian Crime Commission Act 2002 of the Commonwealth;

(d) the CrimTrac Agency established on 1 July 2000 as an Executive Agency by the Governor-General of the Commonwealth under section 65 of the Public Service Act 1999 of the Commonwealth;

(e) the Australian Customs Service established by section 4 of the Customs Administration Act 1985 of the Commonwealth;

(f) the Attorney-General for the Commonwealth or a State;

(g) the Director of Public Prosecutions for the Commonwealth or a State;

(h) a person employed in a Government Department or Agency of the Commonwealth or a State, or in a council, and whose primary duties include the prosecution of offences or assisting with the prosecution of offences;

(i) the Director of Corrective Services and the equivalent entity in another State;

(j) the Parole Board and the equivalent entity in another State;

(k) the Registrar or administrator of a Commonwealth or State court;

(l) the Secretary of the responsible Department in relation to the Youth Justice Act 1997 and any entity that is responsible for the administration of discrete youth justice legislation in another State;

(m) a prescribed body or person;
“minor conviction” means any conviction other than –

(a) a conviction for which a sentence of imprisonment of more than 6 months is imposed; or
(b) a conviction for a sexual offence; or
(c) a prescribed conviction;

“official criminal record” means a record, containing information about the outcome of criminal proceedings, kept by –

(a) a court of this State; or
(b) a Government department or State authority within the meaning of the State Service Act 2000; or
(c) a council;

“Parole Board” means the board established by section 62 of the Corrections Act 1997;

“person” means a natural person;

“sentence of imprisonment” includes –

(a) any wholly suspended sentence of imprisonment; and
(b) any suspended part of a sentence of imprisonment;

“sexual offence” means –

(a) an offence under section 124, 125, 125A, 125B, 126, 127, 127A, 128, 129, 133, 183 or 186 of the Criminal Code; or
(b) an offence under section 122 or 123 of the Criminal Code as in force immediately before 14 May 1997; or

(c) an offence under section 298 or 299 of the Criminal Code in respect of an offence referred to in paragraph (a) or (b); or

(d) an offence under section 8(1A)(a) or 35(3) of the Police Offences Act 1935; or

(e) an offence under Part 8 of the Classification (Publications, Films and Computer Games) Enforcement Act 1995 in respect of a child abuse product, within the meaning of that Part;

"State" includes Territory;

"youth" means a person who has not attained the age of 18 years.

(2) For the purposes of this Act, where a court finds a person guilty of an offence but does not proceed to record a conviction, the finding is to be regarded as a conviction.

(3) In this Act, a reference to an annulled conviction includes a reference to –

(a) the charge to which the conviction related; and

(b) any action taken regarding a breach of prison discipline committed during a sentence of imprisonment imposed in relation to the conviction.
Act applies to convictions from other jurisdictions

4. (1) This Act applies not only to convictions for offences against the laws of Tasmania but also to convictions for offences against the laws of the other States, the laws of the Commonwealth and the laws of other countries.

(2) In their application to convictions for offences against the laws of other jurisdictions, the provisions of this Act may be construed with such changes as may be necessary to enable the provisions to apply to those convictions in the way that corresponds most closely to the way in which they apply to convictions for offences against the laws of Tasmania.

Act binds Crown

5. This Act binds the Crown in right of Tasmania and, so far as the legislative power of Parliament permits, in all its other capacities.
PART 2 - ANNULMENT OF CONVICTIONS

Annulment of minor convictions for good behaviour

6. (1) If a person with a minor conviction is of good behaviour for a required period, the conviction is annulled.

(2) The required period is -

(a) if the person was an adult on the day on which the minor conviction was recorded, the 10 year period commencing on that day; or

(b) if the person was a youth on the day on which the minor conviction was recorded, the 5 year period commencing on that day.

(3) The person is taken to be of good behaviour for the required period if, during that period, he or she is not convicted of an offence punishable by a term of imprisonment.

(4) If, during the required period, the person is convicted of an offence punishable by a term of imprisonment, the person's minor conviction is still capable of being annulled under this section but in such a case the required period in relation to the minor conviction is taken to be -

(a) if subsection (2)(a) applies to the person in relation to the minor conviction, the 10 year period commencing on the day on which the new conviction was recorded; or

(b) if subsection (2)(b) applies to the person in relation to the minor conviction, the 5 year period commencing on the day on which the new conviction was recorded.
(5) If, by virtue of subsection (4), the period of good behaviour required to annul the person's minor conviction is taken to be different to the applicable period specified in subsection (2), subsection (4) has the same application to the new required period as it does to the required period specified in subsection (2).

Dealing with traffic convictions

7. (1) In this section -

“non-traffic offence” means an offence other than a traffic offence;

“traffic offence” means -

(a) an offence under the Traffic Act 1925 or Vehicle and Traffic Act 1999; or

(b) an offence under the Passenger Transport Act 1997 or Taxi and Luxury Hire Car Industries Act 1995; or

(c) an offence under Part VII of the Local Government (Highways) Act 1982; or

(d) an offence under a prescribed enactment dealing with traffic or with vehicles or their use; or

(e) a prescribed offence;

“vehicle” means a motor vehicle or trailer within the meaning of the Vehicle and Traffic Act 1999.

(2) Subject to subsection (3) -

(a) a conviction for a traffic offence and any resultant sentence of imprisonment are to be disregarded in calculating, under section 6, the required period for a conviction for a non-traffic offence; and

(b) a conviction for a non-traffic offence and any resultant sentence of imprisonment are to be disregarded in calculating, under section 6, the required period for a conviction for a traffic offence.

(3) A conviction for an offence against any of the following laws is relevant in calculating, under section 6, the required period for any conviction (whether for a traffic offence or non-traffic offence):

(a) section 167A or 167B of the Criminal Code;
(b) section 4, 6 or 14 of the Road Safety (Alcohol and Drugs) Act 1970;
(c) section 32(1), (2A) or (2B) of the Traffic Act 1925.

Annulment of convictions for spent offences

8. A person’s minor conviction for an offence is annulled if –

(a) the offence has ceased by the operation of any law to be an offence; and
(b) the offence is prescribed as being an offence to which this section applies.

Effect of annulment

9. (1) If a person’s conviction is annulled –
(a) the person is not required to disclose the annulled conviction to any other person; and

(b) the annulled conviction is taken not to form part of the person's official criminal record; and

(c) a question about the person's criminal history is taken not to refer to the annulled conviction but only to convictions, if any, that have not been annulled; and

(d) in applying a provision of any legislation, agreement or arrangement to the person -

(i) a reference to a conviction, however expressed, is taken not to refer to the annulled conviction; and

(ii) a reference to the person's character, however expressed, is not to be taken as allowing or requiring anyone to take account of the annulled conviction; and

(e) the annulled conviction, or the non-disclosure of the annulled conviction, is not a proper ground for -

(i) refusing the person any appointment, post, status or privilege; or

(ii) revoking any appointment, status or privilege held by the person or dismissing the person from any post.

(2) Subsection (1) does not apply to the proceedings of a court or to the making of a decision by a court, including a decision about sentencing, but a court that receives evidence of an annulled conviction may take such steps as are reasonably available to it to prevent or restrict the dissemination of that evidence if the court, having regard to the object of this Act, considers it appropriate to do so in the circumstances.

(3) Subsection (1) does not apply to the proceedings of the Parole Board or to the making of a decision by the Parole Board.

(4) Subsection (1) does not apply to –

(a) an application for an appointment, post, status or privilege referred to in Schedule 1; or

(b) an application for registration or enrolment associated with or required for the gaining of any such appointment, post, status or privilege.

Annulled convictions cannot be revived except by order of court

10. (1) A minor conviction that has been annulled under section 6 or 8 is not capable of being revived except by order of a court in accordance with this section.

(2) Any court may order that a minor conviction annulled under section 6 is revived if the offender is subsequently convicted on one or more occasions of the same offence as that to which the annulled conviction relates and the court is satisfied, having regard to the nature of the offence and such other matters as the court considers relevant in the circumstances, that it would be futile or not in the public interest for the person to continue to have the benefit of the annulment.

(3) Any court may order that a minor conviction annulled under section 6 or 8 is revived if the offender is subsequently convicted of an offence and the court is satisfied, having regard to the nature of the offence, the weight it has given to the factors of deterrence and punishment in sentencing the person for the offence and such other matters as the court considers relevant in the circumstances, that it would be in the public interest for the annulled conviction to be revived.

(4) The Supreme Court may order that a minor conviction annulled under section 6 or 8 is revived if the offender is subsequently declared to be a dangerous criminal under section 19 of the Sentencing Act 1997 and the court is satisfied, having regard to the safety of the public or any person and such other matters as the court considers relevant in the circumstances, that the annulled conviction should be revived.

(5) If an annulled conviction is revived as provided by this section, this Act applies as if it had never been annulled.

Offences of improper disclosure

11. (1) A person must not threaten to disclose information about another person’s annulled conviction.

Penalty: Fine not exceeding 50 penalty units.

(2) A person with access to official criminal records must not, without lawful authority, disclose any information about another person's annulled conviction held in those records without the consent of that other person.

Penalty: Fine not exceeding 50 penalty units.

(3) It is not an offence under subsection (2) for a Justice Agency in the proper discharge of the Agency's functions (or for a person who works for a Justice Agency acting in the course of his or her duty) to release information about a person's annulled conviction to—
(a) a court; or

(b) another Justice Agency to enable it to discharge, as the case requires, its legitimate enforcement, prosecutorial, administrative, penal, rehabilitative or other functions or to carry out related research; or

(c) a person or body that, pursuant to section 9(4), seeks the information for the purpose of making a determination in respect of –

(i) an application for an appointment, post, status or privilege referred to in Schedule 1; or

(ii) an application for registration or enrolment associated with or required for the gaining of any such appointment, post, status or privilege; or

(d) a person carrying out research into sentencing, criminal justice or related matters, whether for academic, professional or other purposes; or

(e) the Tasmania Law Reform Institute or a law reform body of the Commonwealth or another State; or

(f) a prescribed person.

(4) It is not an offence under subsection (2) for –

(a) an archive or library (or a person who works in an archive or library acting in the course of his or her duty) to release, in accordance with its normal procedures, material containing information about annulled convictions to a member of the public or to another archive or library if it is material that is normally available for public use; or

(b) a court (or a registrar, administrator or other officer of a court acting in the course of his or her duty) to release, in accordance with the court’s normal procedures, material containing information about annulled convictions to a member of the public if it is material that is normally available for public use.

(5) It is a defence to a charge for an offence against subsection (2) to show that the defendant acted in good faith in the honest belief that –

(a) he or she had lawful authority to disclose the information; or

(b) the conviction had not been annulled; or

(c) the convicted person had consented to the disclosure of the information.

Other offences

12. (1) A person must not fraudulently or dishonestly obtain, or attempt to obtain, information about another person’s annulled conviction from an official criminal record.

Penalty: Fine not exceeding 50 penalty units.

(2) A person must not take an annulled conviction into account for a purpose not authorised by this Act.

Penalty: Fine not exceeding 50 penalty units.
PART 3 - MISCELLANEOUS

Royal prerogative of mercy not affected

13. Nothing in this Act is to be taken as affecting the Royal prerogative of mercy.

Integrity of official criminal records

14. Nothing in this Act is to be taken as authorising or requiring any person to destroy, cull or edit any documents containing criminal records.

Prior lawful acts not affected

15. Nothing in this Act is to be taken as affecting anything lawfully done before a conviction is annulled.

Regulations

16. (1) The Governor may make regulations for the purposes of this Act.

(2) Without limiting the generality of subsection (1), the regulations may provide that this Act, or a specified provision of it, does not -

(a) apply to specified convictions, persons or circumstances; or

(b) apply to specified official criminal records; or

(c) affect a specified law or specified provisions of a specified law.
(3) The regulations may be made so as to apply differently according to matters, limitations or restrictions, whether as to time, circumstance or otherwise, specified in the regulations.

Provisions of Act that may be amended by order

17. (1) The Governor, by order, may amend section 3(1) as follows:

(a) by inserting, in the definition of “Justice Agency”, a paragraph containing the name of another Justice Agency or the name of a new Justice Agency;

(b) by omitting a paragraph from the definition of “Justice Agency” if the Justice Agency specified in that paragraph ceases to exist;

(c) by omitting a paragraph from the definition of “Justice Agency” and substituting a new (corrected) paragraph if the name of the Justice Agency specified in that paragraph is changed.

(2) The Governor, by order, may amend Schedule 1 by doing any one or more of the following:

(a) inserting a new item in any Part of the Schedule;

(b) omitting an item from any Part of the Schedule;

(c) omitting an item from any Part of the Schedule and substituting a new item.

(3) The provisions of sections 47(3), (3A), (4), (5), (6) and (7) of the Acts Interpretation Act 1931 apply to an order under this section as if the order were regulations within the meaning of that Act.

Administration of Act

18. Until provision is made in relation to this Act by order under section 4 of the Administrative Arrangements Act 1990—

(a) the administration of this Act is assigned to the Minister for Justice and Industrial Relations; and

(b) the department responsible to that Minister in relation to the administration of this Act is the Department of Justice and Industrial Relations.
