INTRODUCTION

The Parliamentary Standing Committee on Subordinate Legislation is a statutory committee of the Tasmanian Parliament. It was established under the Subordinate Legislation Committee Act 1969.

The Committee's charter is to examine every regulation, by-law and rule. Regulations comprise all subordinate legislation made by the Governor-in-Council but do not include Orders, Proclamations or Rules of the Supreme Court. By-laws are those made by municipal councils, marine boards and other semi-government authorities. The Subordinate Legislation Committee Act 1969 uses "regulations" as the generic term to cover all subordinate legislation, be it a regulation, a by-law or a rule.

The Committee is required to conduct its examination of regulations with particular reference to the question of whether or not —

(a) the regulation appears to be within the regulation-making power conferred by, or in accord with the general objects of, the Act pursuant to which it was made;

(b) the form or purport of the regulation calls for elucidation;

(c) the regulation unduly trespasses on personal rights and liberties;

(d) the regulation unduly makes rights dependent on administrative decisions and not on judicial decisions;

(e) the regulation contains matters that, in the opinion of the Committee, should be properly dealt with by an Act and not by regulation; or whether the requirements of the Subordinate Legislation Act 1992 have been met.

The Committee also examines other instruments referred to it by Acts.
