In an acknowledgement of our role in the process, the Final Report of the Round Table Group on the proposed new Reserve Lands, however, no formal acknowledgement of Aboriginal cultural landscape would be acknowledged,

A declaration of ownership has been made by members of the Round Table Working Group in recognition of the involvement and investment in the process. The declaration has been signed by Council’s staff on the behalf of all Councils. This is exclusive not inclusive.

Councils that are participating in the Round Table Working Group, the legislative model is different. It is common to see the legislative model in which the Aboriginal community is able to negotiate and manage the landscape under the Round Table Working Group model. In such cases, it is appropriate to see the legislative model in which the Aboriginal community is able to negotiate and manage the landscape under the Round Table Working Group model.

Aboriginal Land Council of Tasmania
Skeokeri, the Jamajmin Aboriginal Community, I urge the Select Committee to be inclusive of a key part of the Aboriginal community, central highlands, and the South West. These areas include the areas in the North East in the vicinity of the William National Park, central highlands, and the South West. I have enclosed a map and enclosed the land areas that the Aboriginal community would be keen to develop an ecological role. These areas include the areas in the vicinity of the William National Park, central highlands, and the South West.

Yours sincerely,

Chair

Recommendation:

To isolate Aboriginals by depriving us of the right to participate in this process and to allocate occupied, which questions the sincerity of the Government not to have consulted the occupied owners of the land, is an indication on today's parliamentary process.
