COUNCIL OF EDUCATION.

REPORT FOR 1874.

Laid upon the Table by Mr. Chapman, and ordered by the Council to be printed,
July 27, 1875.

ANNUAL REPORT of the TASMANIAN COUNCIL OF EDUCATION for the Year 1874-75.

To His Excellency FREDERICK ALOYSIUS WELD, Esquire, Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the Island of Tasmania and its Dependencies.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY.

1. In conformity with the provisions of "The Tasmanian Council of Education and Scholarship Act," we have the honor to submit this our Fifteenth Report embracing the proceedings of the Council between the 1st May, 1874, and the 30th April, 1875. 22 Vict. No. 21,
Section 30.

2. The Rev. Canon Davenport was elected President for the year ending 30th June, 1875. President

3. We caused an Examination of Candidates for the Council of Education Exhibitions to be held in the month of June, 1874. Eleven Students presented themselves for examination; one was rejected at the preliminary Examination, and, on the recommendation of the Examiners, Exhibitions of the annual value of £20 each for four years were awarded to Evans John Taylor, pupil of Rev. R. D. Poulett-Harris, M.A., High School, Hobart Town, and George Alexander Webster, pupil of Rev. J. R. Buckland, B.A., Hutchins School, Hobart Town. The remaining eight obtained a standard of marks sufficient to entitle them to an Exhibition. Council of Education
Exhibitions,
Gazette
Notice, 23
June, 1874.

The Examiners in closing their Report on the Examination observe:—

"We are of opinion that the results of the Examination are very satisfactory. The number of marks obtained by the foremost of the Candidates is somewhat less than it has been for several years past, but greatly exceeds half the maximum, which is the standard of qualification for an Exhibition. And it is an unprecedented feature of this Examination that the above standard was reached by all the Candidates. We are gratified to observe that the first in the list, as well as three others, has distinguished himself at former Examinations, and obtained an Exhibition awarded by the Board of Education. These repeated honours are likely to be in his case, as they have been in several others, the foundation of future success. They also afford a valuable stimulus to the exertions of Tasmanian boys in every social grade, and reflect great credit on the Schoolmasters, without whose careful training they could not have been achieved."

4. The Fifteenth Examination for the Degree of Associate of Arts was held in September, 1874; M. H. Irving, Esq., M.A., Head Master of Wesley College, Melbourne, being Examiner in English, Latin, Greek, French, Pure Mathematics, and Natural Philosophy; the Hon. F. S. Dobson, M.A., L.L.D., Examiner in German; H. M. Andrew, Esq., M.A., Examiner in Chemistry; F. Goldstraw, Esq., M.A., Examiner in Geology; and J. Summers, Esq., Mus. Bac., Examiner in Music. Seventeen Candidates, under nineteen years of age, presented themselves; sixteen passed the Preliminary Examination, and thirteen succeeded in obtaining the Degree: five being placed in the First Class, seven in the Second Class, and one in the Third Class. Two of the successful Candidates were examined at Launceston under supervision sanctioned by the Council. Degree of
A.A., Gazette
Notice, 29
September,
1874.

5. William Harvey Buckland, as Senior Associate for the year, received the Council's Gold Medal, a First Prize of the value of £10 each for Latin, Greek, and Mathematics, and a Second Prize of the value of Five Pounds for French. To George Henry Reilly, who was placed in the First Class, was awarded a Prize of the value of £5 for Natural Philosophy. To Morton John Cecil Allport, who was also placed in the First Class, was awarded a Prize of the value of £5 for Geology. To Herbert Burgess Barrett, who was also placed in the First Class, was awarded a Second Prize of the value of £5 each for Latin and Greek. To William Andrew Bayley Birchall, who was also placed in the First Class, was awarded a First Prize of the value of £10 for French.

To Thomas Augustine Lewis, who was placed in the Second Class, was awarded a Second Prize of the value of £5 for Mathematics; and to Stephen Kennard Chapman, who was also placed in the Second Class, was awarded a Prize of the value of £5 for English.

The Examiners in closing their Report observe:—

JAMES BARNARD,
GOVERNMENT PRINTER, TASMANIA.

TASMANIAN COUNCIL OF EDUCATION.

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT of the Tasmanian Council of Education.

To His Excellency FREDERICK ALOYSIUS WELD, Esquire, Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the Island of Tasmania and its Dependencies.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY.

THE Council of Education is of opinion that the benefits to be derived from the examinations held under its direction could, without extra expenditure, be advantageously extended; and that to attain that end it is desirable that alterations should be made in its constitution and functions. Amongst the defects in the present system the following may be specially mentioned:—

1. In the examination of boys under fourteen years of age for the Council's Exhibitions many boys attain the required standard, but the first two only secure Exhibitions, and the others receive no recognition of their proficiency.

2. In the examination for the Scholarships, Candidates are required to attain a higher standard than would entitle them to a Pass Degree of B.A. at the University of Oxford, Cambridge, or Melbourne; and although the Colony is at the expense of holding yearly an examination of so high a standard, yet it does not take advantage of it for any other purpose than to decide whether the two annual Scholarships shall or shall not be conferred. Two boys alone can receive any mark of recognition of their having passed these examinations. Candidates have attained a standard which would have entitled them to the Degree of B.A. at any University, but failing to attain a Scholarship some first class boys have gone unrewarded, and their proficiency has passed unrecognised by the Council. Thus no inducement is held out to boys to continue their studies; for although they might be able to attain a standard which would entitle them to a Degree of B.A., they may know that there are at least two cleverer boys of the year who must beat them in the personal competition for the Scholarships. Moreover, those who have passed the age within which they may compete for a Scholarship have now no inducement held out to them to pursue their studies.

The Council of Education holds three examinations in every year:—

1. For boys under fourteen years of age who are candidates for the Council's Exhibitions.
2. For candidates for the Degree of A.A.
3. For candidates for the Scholarships.

The examination for Exhibitions embraces subjects similar to those prescribed for matriculation by the University of Melbourne.

The examination for the Degree of A.A. is at least equal to the first year's examination in a University curriculum.

For the second year's examination in such a curriculum the Council has no equivalent.

Corresponding to the third year's, or Degree examination, the Council holds its Scholarships examination. So that except as to the second year's examination the Council is already holding examinations which are very closely analogous in value and character to the known course of examinations held in British Universities.

It is desirable that the Exhibition examination should, in addition to its present objects, hereafter become a recognised step, and be the matriculation examination in a regular curriculum, instead of having no coherence with or relation to the A.A. and Scholarship examinations. This being so, the present preliminary examination for the A.A. Degree would not be required.

It is also desirable that advantage should be taken of the Scholarship examination, not only to examine all who are desirous of presenting themselves as candidates for a Scholarship, but also all who desire to be examined as to whether they have attained a standard equal to an ordinary Pass Degree of B.A. (say) in the University of Melbourne. Power to confer the Degree of B.A. on all who attain such standard should be created.

In order to render that Degree one of practical value, and one which will be recognised out of Tasmania, it must be conferred by a University. A University need not be a building for teaching, nor a body of teachers and scholars, but a body of persons empowered to examine candidates and confer Degrees. Such is the University of London, which carries on its work in rooms in Burlington House. For some years that University was not recognised by the Crown, and not until after it had been in existence for about 10 years a Royal Charter was granted to it. Such also is the University of France; while the University of Dublin admits non-resident students to its Examinations and Degrees.

The University of Melbourne was constituted by Act of the Parliament of Victoria, but no Royal Charter declaring that its Degrees should be recognised throughout the British Dominions was granted for some years afterwards; up to which time the Degrees conferred were of validity in Victoria only.

It is improbable that Degrees conferred by any Board or Corporate Body other than an University will be recognised in any of the sister Colonies; and no Royal Charter could be hoped for until there has been a University in existence for some years, and until its standard of merit has become established.

The necessary expenses of a University are not great. The whole income of the University of Cambridge is less than £2000 a year. That of Oxford is not much more. Several of the Colleges in both Universities are very wealthy, but the Universities have no control over the funds or internal discipline of the Colleges. The establishment of a Tasmanian University would involve no necessary expense beyond that of paying examiners, printing examination papers, and other small incidental charges.

It has been shown that the requisite examinations are already held by the Council, except that of the second year. If this is deemed indispensable, it could be held contemporaneously with the examination for the Degree of Associate in Arts, and by the same Examiners. The preliminary examination would be dispensed with, and so far the examination work for the A.A. Degree would be reduced; and but little extra remuneration would be required to secure the services of the Examiners to conduct both examinations together. This remuneration might be easily provided by charging a small fee to candidates,—a course which is adopted in almost all Universities.

To provide then for the necessary expenses of the University, and to afford the character of stability to the institution, the same provision only which the Legislature has during the last 14 years annually made for the expenses of the Council of Education should be permanently secured to the University,—the Council ceasing to exist as such, and the University undertaking its functions.

An institution so founded, and maintaining for a few years a reasonably high standard of scholarship for its Degrees, would probably have little difficulty in obtaining a Royal Charter declaring that its Degrees shall be recognised as academic distinctions throughout Her Majesty's Dominions, and thereupon the youth graduating at the University would become entitled to the benefits which accrue to the graduate of a British University.

In the constitution of the University it is desirable that the Governor for the time being should be the Visitor, and that in the election of Members to the Council of the University every Tasmanian Scholar and all Graduates above A.A. should be entitled to vote.

The suggested alterations would at once create an University in the germ, the growth and development of which would depend upon the future requirements of the Colony. It is not improbable that in course of time endowments to aid in teaching up to the required standard would be made, and that institutions for that purpose would become affiliated to it, as we find in the case of the London University, with which there are now connected more than 40 Colleges and Schools, including amongst their number King's College, London, Stonyhurst College, and Bishop Stortford Collegiate School.

If the University once became favourably known, there can be little doubt that the advantage of the climate of this Colony would induce our neighbours who live in the warmer parts of Australia to send their sons to reap the benefits to be derived from making Tasmania their place of study.

The outline of the present scheme having been submitted to Professor Irving, who has always taken a deep interest in the cause of higher education in Tasmania, he writes as follows:—"In its conception I consider it excellent; in fact I am lost in wonder why it never occurred to me that you might thus take up the examining apart from the teaching function. * * * Your scheme will give unity and coherence to the whole thing—will encourage the second-raters, who now drop all study, to persevere, and will, I should say, probably eventuate in a good College for training lads beyond the Grammar School work."

It should not be forgotten that the benefits derived under our system of higher education are open to all classes. The boys primarily trained in our Public Schools under the Board of Education have already largely participated in the honours and rewards conferred by the Council. Out of thirty Exhibitions granted twelve have been gained by boys originally trained at these Schools. Six of such boys have attained a first class Degree of A.A., one a second class Degree, one matriculated at Melbourne, and the other four are studying for the A.A. Degree. Three have attained the standard fixed for the Scholarship Examination.

The present system has gradually raised the standard of higher education in Tasmania to a degree but little anticipated when the Council of Education commenced its duties, and a foundation has been laid for the progress now indicated.
