* These Helpers are in lieu of Nurses, and receive pay varying from Twopence to Fourpence a day. They are selected from the Inmates.

The amount provided by Parliament for the Institution for the year was £2205 7s. 8d.; the expenditure amounted to £2267 8s. 4d., being an excess of £62 0s. 8d.: this excess was in the item "Provisions and Medical Comforts."

The spiritual and physical necessities of the Inmates were, as usual, duly administered to: they were visited weekly by the Chaplains of the Churches of England and Rome, and also by several ladies who read to them and issue and exchange books from a small library belonging to the Institution. Such of the women as are able to attend their respective places of worship are by Regulation required to do so once every Sunday.

The Inmates make all the clothing for the Institution; they also perform the repairs and do the whole of the washing, scrubbing, &c.

The buildings are comparatively new, having been erected in 1862, and afford accommodation for 160 women. There are 6 large and 4 small dormitories, 3 of the largest will hold 34 beds each, the other 3 will hold 13 beds each, and the 4 smallest 4 beds each.

The situation is both healthy and beautiful and cannot, I think, be surpassed.

I beg to furnish the following extract from my Report for the year 1876; I do so in the hope that the work therein named may be attended to this year:—

I have as far back as December, 1875, represented that the woodwork of the exterior of the building required painting, the wood is quite bare of paint and perishing.

In the same Report I also brought under notice the want of a laundry and bath-room. It is true that these buildings were commenced last year; but I am sorry to report that they are not yet ready for use, although it would take only a few pounds to complete them.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

SANDFORD SCOTT, Superintendent.

The Honorable the Colonial Secretary.
