LADY SUPERINTENDENTS' REPORTS.

WATCHORN-STREET RAGGED SCHOOL.

During the past year the ladies have worked energetically with the teachers, endeavouring to teach the little ones how to sew well. The class taught are migratory, consequently only the stationary ones show real signs of progress. In the winter season 163 garments were made and distributed among those most in need. Prizes were given to the deserving at Christmas, and the little ones showed their appreciation and did their teachers credit. Our thanks are due to the members of the Young Women's Christian Association for the earnest way they try to keep a hold of the girls who leave school, and have evening classes for them three times a week.

Yours, &c.

M. FAGG, Superintendent.

Collins-street School.

The general work of the school has been very satisfactory. The teachers are earnestly endeavouring to do the best for the children under their care, both morally and physically. The attendance has increased. The school was visited by some of the Ladies' Committee every week. The Sewing Classs was well attended, and marked improvement made. The winter distribution of clothing took place on 3rd July. A good number of visitors were present; upwards of 200 garments were distributed to 180 children. Mrs. Fagg addressed the children, who received buns and apples as they left. Three prizes for needlework were given :—First prize, given by Miss Moon, Mary Nudrell; second, Daisy Bower; Emily Foster. Several friends helped with con-tributions of clothes or money—Mrs. A. G. Webster, the late Mrs. H. Miller, the late Mrs. Hugh Hull, &c.
