If an incident causing or threatening environmental muisance, serious environmental harm or material environmental harm from pollution occurs in the course of the activity, then the person responsible for the activity must immediately take all reasonable and practicable action to minimise any adverse environmental effects from the incident.

- G4 No changes without approval
 - The following changes, if they may cause or increase the emission of a pollutant which may cause material or serious environmental harm or environmental nuisance, must only take place in relation to the activity if such changes have been approved in writing by the EPA Board following its assessment of an application for a permit under the Land Use Planning and Approvals Act 1993, or approved in writing by the Director:
 - 1.1 a change to a process used in the course of carrying out the activity; or

Effluent Disposal

E1 Stormwater

- Polluted stormwater that will be discharged from The Land must be collected and treated prior to discharge to the extent necessary to prevent serious or material environmental harm, or environmental nuisance.
- 2 Notwithstanding the above, all stormwater that is discharged from The Land must not carry pollutants such as sediment, oil and grease in quantities or concentrations that are likely to degrade the visual quality of any receiving waters outside the Land.
- 3 All reasonable measures must be implemented to ensure that solids entrained in stormwater are retained on The Land. Such measures may include appropriately sized and maintained sediment settling ponds or detention basins.

Hazardous Substances

H1 Storage and handling of hazardous materials

- 1 Unless otherwise approved in writing by the Director, all environmentally hazardous materials, including all chemicals, fuels, and oils, held on The Land in volumes exceeding 250 litres must be stored and handled in accordance with the following:

A: A

- 1.3.2 be graded or drained to a sump to allow recovery of liquids;
- 1.3.3 be chemically resistant to the chemicals stored or transferred;
- 1.3.4 be designed and managed such that any leakage or spillage is contained within the bunded area (including where such leakage emanates vertically higher than the bund wall);
- 1.3.5 be designed and managed such that the transfer of materials is adequately controlled by valves, pumps and meters and other equipment wherever practical. The equipment must be adequately protected (for example, with bollards) and contained in an area designed to permit recovery of any released chemicals;
- 1.3.6 be designed such that chemicals which may react dangerously if they come into contact have measures in place to prevent mixing; and
- 1.3.7 be managed such that the capacity of the bund is maintained at all times (for example, by regular inspections and removal of obstructions).
- Hazardous materials (<250 litres)
 Unless otherwise approved in writing by the Director, each environmentally hazardous material, including chemicals, fuels and oils, held on The Land in discrete volumes not exceeding 250 litres, but not including discrete volumes of 25 litres or less, must, as far as practical and to the reasonable satisfaction of the Director, be located within bunded areas or spill trays which are designed to contain at least 110% of the volume of the largest container.

- Where the combined level of noise from the activity and the normal ambient noise exceeds the noise levels stated above, this condition will not be considered to be breached unless the noise emissions from the activity are audible and exceed the ambient noise levels by at least 5 dB(Λ);
- 3 The time interval over which noise levels are averaged must be 10 minutes or an alternative time interval specified by the Director.;
- 4 Measured noise levels must be adjusted for tonality, impulsiveness, modulation and low frequency in accordance with the Tasmanian Noise Measurement Procedures Manual; and
- 5 All methods of measurement must be in accordance with the Tasmanian Noise Measurement Procedures Manual, issued by the Director.
