

Taxpayer-Funded Legal Expenses – Commission of Inquiry

Mr GEORGE question to PREMIER

This is an appropriate question for today. My question comes from Jen Allen of Howrah, who wants to know the remainder of costs relating to legal support that has been provided to public servants who appeared before the Commission of Inquiry. As she understands it, the government has disclosed the cost of legal representation of only some of those public servants in relation to their repayment. How much was paid in total to represent all public servants who appeared before the Inquiry, and will the government publicly release this information to demonstrate its commitment to integrity?