SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report that on the 4th June an examination of Infantry Officers of the Local Forces was held in Hobart Town.

2. The Examination was conducted by Colonel Anderson, C.M.G., commanding Local Forces in Victoria, whose services, as requested, were placed at the disposal of my Government by the Government of Victoria.

3. I beg to enclose copy of the Examination which, in addition to the practical part, these Officers were made subject to, and to state that only one Officer out of 18 failed to pass, for the information, should you see fit to forward it, of the Deputy Adjutant General Auxiliary Forces, War Office.

4. I also have the honor to enclose copy of Colonel Anderson's Report on the Tasmanian Volunteer Force, also for transmission, if so permitted, to the War Office.

The "Officers entrusted with their command and supervision," referred to in the concluding portion of Colonel Anderson's Report, are Lieut.-Colonel St. Hill, 19th Regiment, Commandant, and Captain Boddam, Staff Officer, late Lieutenant Royal Artillery.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,

Your most obedient humble Servant,

Head Quarters, Melbourne, 23rd June, 1879.

FROM the Officer Commanding the Forces, Victoria, to His Excellency Governor WELD, Tasmania.

Head Quarters, Melbourne, 23rd June, 1879.

SIR,

IN compliance with the wish which Your Excellency was, before my departure from Tasmania, pleased to express, that I should submit for your consideration my opinion as to the condition and efficiency of the Military Forces of the Colony, I now have the honor to address to Your Excellency the following observations, the result, not only of the practical and theoretical examination of Officers—for the purpose of conducting which I was specially present in Tasmania—but of a series of parades and inspections which I, at the express desire of the Officer Commanding the Tasmanian Forces, had the honor to hold.

ARTILLERY.

The smart and soldier-like appearance of the Batteries of both districts was most creditable; and the efficient manner in which the guns, both garrison and field, were handled, as well as the knowledge evinced by both officers and men of their respective duties and positions, was very satisfactory, the more so taking into consideration the diverse and partly obsolete nature of the ordnance on which the gun detachments were formed.

INFANTRY.

After having seen this Battalion "march past" in the manners severally prescribed, and having further seen Companies comprehensively exercised in "Company" and "Battalion" drill, I feel that I can speak highly in its praise. The arms and accoutrements were in excellent order, the men soldier-like, and for steadiness might compare with Regiments of branches of the Service (other than Volunteer) possessing far greater advantages as to time for, and means of, training.

The precise manner in which each movement was executed, and the several "points" given, indicated careful instruction.

In conclusion I would state that although the greatest credit is due to all ranks for the energy and perseverance of which the present satisfactory state of the Forces is the result, yet I cannot but impress upon Your Excellency my opinion that such result is equally owing to the zealous and efficient instruction and training bestowed upon the Volunteers by those Officers entrusted with their command and supervision.

I have the honor to be,

Your Excellency's most obedient humble Servant,

W. A. D. ANDERSON, Commanding the Forces, Victoria.
