I do not support the Macquarie Point access road as it cuts access to the railway line which is shortsighted and precludes the option of rail or light rail at a later time. These are far better at moving crowds than cars and buses.

Rail is very efficient and reduces city traffic, and has the capacity to reduce movement of goods trucks on our roads and also offers good tourist opportunities to travel North or even to National park. Bus services are highly unsatisfactory in Hobart and the fast bus proposal proposed to support movement of people from the stadium is ill conceived and just moves people a little up the road to create more traffic issues elsewhere.

Maintaining rail access shows foresight and retains transport options for Hobart where traffic is increasingly constrained.
