last time I got taken by ambulance to Hobart for no good reason except I was upset. The ambulance drivers took me on a 2 hr drive to the Royal Hobart hospital. I waited 5 hrs nobody in the waiting room was called in but there was heaps in the administration rooms. I left as I couldn't get a ride home if I didn't. Which is a two hour drive. I tried to lay down having a major problem with my back on the plastic bench chairs and sleep. A woman came in bruised from head to foot she had been bashed and was in pain and crying. Domestic abuse victim. The abuser entered the hospital. She wasn't a pretty sight at all. And waiting hours to get pain relief. It's just not enough doctors there wasn't any.
