The number of Surveys in progress amount to 92, in the hands of 31 Surveyors; being about one month's work. If this Return had been asked for at any other season of the year than the present (just after winter), it would have exhibited even more favourable results; for during the past winter the Surveys, especially in the Northern Districts, have been greatly impeded by continuous rain, whereby at least seven weeks have been lost to the Department. Five Surveyors have also been taken off ordinary lot-work all the year, and one other a good part of it, to lay out roads under the Board of Works, in connection with the Parliamentary Grant of £12,000 voted for the opening of Bush Roads. Were it not for these accidental obstructions there would not have been a week's work undone in the field.

This Return made up to 1 July, 1861.

Year.	Area under Lease.	Amount of Rent received.	Area of Land applied for in each Year.	Area of Land given up in each Year.	No. of Applications for Leases not granted.

‡ Includes Victoria.

§ Census of April, 1861.

REMARKS.—Up to 1851, Victoria, being a Dependency of New South Wales, her Statistics are lumped with those of New South Wales; but as the “Statistical Notes” of the Registrar-General of Victoria enable us to separate them, I have done so throughout. Hence the New South Wales Returns show different figures from the present one,—the Victorian being subtracted.

A similar correction should be made for Queensland (separated in 1859), but I have no means of doing so before 1859.

This Return shows that there are but 13 of the 21 years given in which the Statistics of all three Colonies are complete enough for the purposes of comparison. Taking the average of these 13 years, it appears that Tasmania cultivated 2,332 Acres for each 1,000 of her Population against 653 for New South Wales, and 382 for Victoria; or, in other words, that for every Acre which New South Wales cultivated for home consumption and export per 1,000 persons, Tasmania had 3A. 2R. 11P., and against Victoria, 6A. 0R. 16P.; thus proving for Tasmania a capacity for export which the other two Colonies do not as yet possess.

J. E. CALDER.

RETURN showing the extent of Trade in the chief articles of Agricultural and Mill Produce, (Bran excepted), between the Colonies of New South Wales, Victoria, and Tasmania during the last Four Years.

NOTE.—The Statistics of Exports and Imports for the preceding years are imperfect.

NOTE.—The chief articles of Agricultural Exports and Imports that are against the Tasmanian Trade with New South Wales and Victoria are Dairy Produce and Beef and Provisions, which are not very considerable ones. The greatest loss sustained by Tasmania with the above-named markets is in Live Stock; but even this is much less than is generally thought, owing to the large set-off on account of Horses, whereof there were exported to the before-named Colonies 3,858, valued at £214,590, in the four years for which this Return is compiled.
