95 Dr Woodruff to move—That the House:—

- (1) Recognises the vital work of Tasmania's Integrity Commission in holding public officers to account and upholding high standards of ethical conduct in public office.
- (2) Notes:—
 - (a) Tasmania's Integrity Commission was subject to a substantial, independent review by former Justice William Cox in 2016, with 151 evidence-based recommendations, only six of which have been implemented;
 - (b) the extra responsibilities and legislative changes needed to the Integrity Commission as a result of the Commission of Inquiry into Institutional Responses to Child Sexual Abuse, and the Independent Weiss Review; and
 - (c) the assertion under oath by Chief Commissioner, Greg Mellick AO, that the Integrity Commission is not sufficiently funded to effectively undertake all its statutory duties.
- (3) Understands Tasmania's Integrity Commission is the lowest funded integrity body in the country.
- (4) Agrees another review is not required to strengthen the capacity of the Integrity Commission.
- (5) Supports significantly increased funding for the Commission and updating of the Integrity Commission Act 2009 in line with the Cox Review, Commission of Inquiry and Weiss Review recommendations.
- (6) Calls on the Rockliff minority Government to uphold the spirit of its agreement with former JLN members and ensure the Integrity Commission is appropriately resourced and its legislation reformed. (4 March 2025)
